

BECOME AN IM4Q MONITOR

As an IM4Q Team Monitor, you will visit individuals, their staff, and families at their home or place of day activity or via video conferencing and ask them how they feel about their services/ supports using a standardized tool set by the state. If travel is required the IM4Q Program will reimburse mileage prorated to the current gas price.

As a team member you will get to meet new people and learn about their experiences and see if they have any needs/ desires for the future.

We interview when it is convenient for the person we are seeing. We have people who work during the day, evening, or weekend. You can take interviews to complete that fit your schedule. There is no guarantee to the number of surveys each week/month due to the nature of the work we do and you can decide how many interviews you are willing to complete so as not to interfere with your benefits.

Monitors will be trained yearly on the tool, interview process, and priorities. As a team member you will need a way to get to the interview or have access to a laptop and internet, be able to read/write and adapt to the conversation and ask follow up questions as needed.
